

Privacy statement

General

Raging River comply with all applicable data protection and privacy laws. If you do not understand how we handle or use the personal information you provide to us, then you are invited to send in any questions to informationofficer@ragingriver.co.za .

Information Collected

During the escalation process; specific personal data ("Personal Data") is collected including, first and last name, e-mail address, or other contact data you may share with us. Any personal data received is processed in accordance with your rights, obtained only for a specific and lawful purpose and kept in a secure manner.

Disclosure of Information

We will disclose personal data when ordered to do so by any governing authority and/or under any legal provision contained in the governing law.

For fraud detection and control purposes, you agree that we retain the right to transfer your personal data to third parties, including so-called AVS service providers and other partners, should the need arise.